SOCIETY

A Topeka family that is beginning the new year in a handsome new house are Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Paxton and their two children, Miss Mary Paxton and Legler Paxton. They have moved from their former home in Polk street and are now fairly settled in the new house they have been erecting the past few months in Western avenue. The house combines beauty and homeliness in a degree that only the latest practical ideas in house building can accomplish.

The residence is patterned in exterior on the plan of the New England colonial homes and has substantial look of those houses that have weathered the storms of more than a hundred winters, but the Yankee builders of those days could never have dreamed of the devices for comfort and convenience within.

The veranda, instead of opening from the front of the house, is placed at the south, and is entered from the living room by two sets of French doors. The front entrance is in white, and the doorway has a knocker and trimmings of brass. Just inside the door, the floor of the vestibule has as the design in the tile, the Paxton coat of arms, with its eagle crest, and a Latin motto which says that riches come by industry.

The stairs of highly polished solid wood lead to the second floor. "These," said a visitor at the Paxton home on Christmas day, "these are surely not made to wait on," and he took the stairs three steps at a time so as not to wait on any more of them than he had to. Opening from the hall to the south, by glass doors of leaded panes, with knobs and fastenings of antique silver, is the living room, which runs the full width of the house in length. It is 34 feet from east to west, and 17 feet wide. The walls are done in a very pale shade of rose, and the woodwork is mahogany. The furniture is polished mahogany, and a new concert grand piano is a part of the furnishing. A large fireplace is on the south side of the room between the glass doors leading to the piazza.

At the back of the hall and opening from the living room is the den and lounge room, which is finished in a shade of rose deeper than the walls of the living room. At the north of the den is a breakfast room, with cupboard for the breakfast china and silver, and a quaint English breakfast table of walnut. Beyond the breakfast room is the kitchen with all the new-fangled devices for making the life of the housekeeper long and happy.

On the north of the front hall is the dining room, and between this room and the kitchen is the butler's pantry. The dining room walls are tinted a straw color, and the furniture is dull mahogany.

The house is equipped with the indirect lighting system, with chandelier chains of silver and bowls of alabaster.

The second floor has a bedroom furnished with an old-fashioned four-poster set, and in another room there is to be a set of Circassian walnut. The walls in the various rooms are grey, ashes of roses and straw color. The stairway opens upon a library on the second floor. In the third story are a sitting room and sewing room, three sleeping rooms, and numerous closets, presses and closets.

The basement is the special delight of the young members of the family. They have the room below the living room for the ball and billiard room. The room is finished like the rooms above stairs; it has a big fireplace, an electric lantern for throwing pictures on a screen, and a phonograph to play for the dancing for informal dancing parties.

Among the pictures in the house are some painted by Mrs. Paxton's sister, Mrs. Hawkins of California, who visited Topeka a few years ago. She has a canvas called "Ruth and Naomi," and one pretty study in still life.

Mrs. A. M. Petro gave a New Year's dinner at her home, 1028 Topeka avenue, for the following guests: Mr. Alvin Roper, the pianist with E. O. Exzell, who is here for the Intercollegiate Prohibition association; John Parks, former state printer; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Petro and their daughter, Marjorie, Mr. Petro and their son Kelsey.

Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a very interesting talk on Current Events will be given by Mrs. J. A. Ross of Kansas City, at Unity church. This will be the fourth of a series of talks of the U and I club. Tickets for these talks have been sold but if anyone not holding a series ticket wishes to attend this lecture or any of the following ones they may do so by paying the single admission fee of one dollar at the door.

It is a rare opportunity for the Topeka people to be able to hear Mrs. Ross and learn in a short afternoon the principal happenings of the world. To read all that Mrs. Ross has to tell would take hours and to be able to get this information in such a short time is something no one should miss. The proceeds obtained from these afternoons will be used by the U and I club in their charitable work this winter. Topeka people are well acquainted with this club of women and the money spent by them goes where it is really needed.

Mr. Roscoe Stubbs and Mr. Paul Stubbs entertained with a dancing party last evening at their home on "Wind Hill" in honor of their house party. The ball room was attractively decorated with Christmas bells and holly. The evening was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stubbs and Miss Margaret Stubbs. The house party includes Miss Stella Stubbs, Miss Hazel Stubbs, Miss Evelyn, Miss E. Phyllis Dunnette, Miss Helen Trevillo, Mr. Woodman Gibson, Mr. Arthur Lawrence, Mr. Julius Uhrlaub and Mr. Howard Lassett, all of Lawrence; Miss Marion Hoover of Baldwin, Miss Jean Lindsey, Miss Isabel Stewart and Mr. Sam Stewart of Topeka, and Mr. Leroy Hostetter of Great Bend, Kan.

The dance guests were the Arline Griffith, Miss Elsie Bartelde, Miss Eleanor Atkinson, Miss Margaret Fitch, Miss Virginia Goff, Miss Nannie Goff, Miss Ethel Keeler, Miss Lois Burke, Miss Angela Fogarty, Miss Lucile Smith, Miss Helen Wagstaff, Miss Agnes Bias, Mr. Dwight Buchanan, Mr. Carl Arching, Mr. Roy Gress, Mr. Herby McCurdy, Mr. Walter Keeler, Mr. Cargill Spruill, Mr. Harlan Russell, Mr. Charles Griesa, Mr. Scott Griesa and Mr. Lawrence Hughes—Lawrence Gazette.

The C. O. Ds of the junior class of the high school will have a New Year's party Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Helen Wright, 1195 Clay street. All members of the club are cordially invited.

The W. T. K. club will meet Tuesday, January 5, with Miss Campdoras, 299 Harrison street.

The Spalding Reading circle will meet Monday evening, January 4, in the Knights of Columbus club rooms at 7:45. The evening's entertainment is in charge of Mrs. C. C. Henshaw.

Miss Helen Crawford and Miss Beth Thompson gave an auction-bridge party this afternoon in compliment to Miss Margaret Melick of Zanesville, Ohio, the guest of Miss Ruth Wilson. The affair today is the second bridge party the two young hostesses have given this week. Those who played were Miss Melick, Miss Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Mills, Miss Lucile Mills, Miss Nannie Zahner, Miss Esther Hughes, Miss Margaret Kline, Miss Ernestine Kline, Miss Ariel Nichols, Miss Mildred Morton, Miss Mary Van Vechten, Miss Frances Perry, Miss Mary Wrightman, Miss Mary Nowers, Miss Winifred Gress, Miss Ruth Katter, Miss Marie Porter, Miss Genevieve Herrick, Miss Sarella Herrick, Miss Jane Alexander, Miss Kathryn Albaugh, Miss Margaret Shakeshaft, Miss Violet Gwombine, Miss Louise Bell, Miss Altha Watson, Miss Edith Updegraff, Miss Helen Koonts, Miss Genevieve McMillan, Miss Alice Hughes, Miss Helen Cook, Miss Florence Bowman, Miss Ruth Bauer, Miss Rebecca Welty, Miss Louise Culver, Miss Mildred Fuller and Miss Helen Louise Cronley.

The house was decorated for the party in Killary roses.

Some of the members of the Sigma Alpha Iota sorority of Washburn and their men friends were entertained at dinner Thursday evening by Miss Vir-
